

NEW "V" COURSES BEGIN NEXT QUARTER

By MARY SMITH

When the Industrial Arts department offers its new program of "V" courses in the spring quarter, San Jose State college will enter an entirely new field — that of training men directly to be defense workers.

These "V" courses will offer the most intensive instruction in demanded tool skills — machine shop, sheet metal, welding, electric wiring—and will be open to any man demonstrating fitness for the type of work involved.

JOB AN OBJECTIVE

Students who enter this two-quarter course will devote their time exclusively to this industrial instruction and will not be acceptable if enrolled in any other college courses. Upon completion of a V-course, a student is expected to enter employment in a defense industry immediately. No academic qualifications are required.

These courses will be terminal, consisting of two quarters' work, and each involving a single skill only. An average of 15 clock-hours will be spent each week in actual practice at the tool skill. In addition to this, related shop work amounting to five clock-hours will bring the total to 20 hours per week.

WHERE TO APPLY

Those interested should apply immediately at the Industrial Arts office (hours: 8 to 10 daily, including Saturdays, and afternoons by appointment). Applicants who demonstrate fitness for the type of work to be given will be pre-enrolled for the spring quarter to the capacity of the various shops.

This work is offered in the San Jose junior college curriculum, therefore no fees will be charged.

COURSES DISCONTINUED

These courses are scheduled for the daytime hours between 8 and 5 o'clock, Monday through Friday.

Because of this new program, the National Service courses being given this quarter on Saturdays will not be continued in the spring quarter as was previously planned.

Also the following technical courses, previously listed in the college catalogue, will be discontinued for the duration of the war:

T30C Mechanical Drawing, T50A Electricity, T55 Plumbing and Pipe fitting, T60C Special Problems in Drafting, T61 Machine Drawing, T13 Machine Shop.

EDITORIAL BOARD AWARDS

Editorial Board awards of last week went to Chris Jensen for front page makeup, Charles Cook for editorial, Wilbur Agee for news story, and Bill Morrow for sports story.

Jensen was awarded for his page makeup Wednesday, February 11. Cook's editorial ran Monday, February 9, and was titled "You're Safe, No More Donations."

Agee's handling of Coach Charlie Walker's appointment Wednesday, February 11, won him the award for the best news story, while Morrow's boxing article, Monday, February 9, was the best sports story of the week.

Varsity, Junior Forensic Squads Meet With U. C. Tonight At Eight

Varsity and Junior Varsity forensic squads will hold a continuing meeting of the weekly Inter-collegiate symposium with the University of California tonight in the Student Union at 8 o'clock.

Francis Stoffels, junior social science major, has been chosen as chairman for the event. He will preside over the forum, which features two formal speeches by both California and San Jose.

State squad members Harrett and Rex Gardiner will represent San Jose with seven-minute speeches. Louis Marengo, debate manager, will head the California delegates.

Worth Oswald, assistant professor of economics, will act as moderator. Topic of the evening is "What Are the Present Trends of Democracy?"

Students participating in the symposium following the formal speeches are Lorraine Doran, Kenneth Fischer, Richard Greer, Frank Griswold, Howard Nelson, William Lawrence, Tom Henschel, Helen Cronk, Joanna Barnett, Wesley Young, Arthur Bette Jane Toland, Henry Cronk, Lois Cronk, Warren Cronk, and Marjorie Howell.

NYA

All NYA time cards must be in the Dean of Men's office by noon today.

To The Memory Of A Likeable Young Man

If you have taken any of Mr. George Stone's photo courses recently you will probably remember the portrait of a likeable young man that he showed to his students. He also told the story behind the picture; of how he took the portrait at the request of David Griswold because he wanted to give his girl the best picture of himself before he left for Navy duty.

Then yesterday his parents and Mr. Stone were stunned by the news that Dave had been killed in action. He was stationed with the Pacific Fleet and was an ensign.

Today the picture still hangs in Mr. Stone's lecture room—a likeable young man.

REVELRIES HOLDS FIRST NON-DRESS REHEARSAL; TICKET SALES HEAVY; SELL-OUT IS FORECAST

"Good News" holds its first non-dress rehearsal tonight at 7 o'clock in the Morris Dailey Auditorium. The entire cast, chorus, stage and production managers, specialty acts, and the entire personnel are requested to be there promptly. Len Baskin, director, announced.

Ticket sales are already under way, two weeks before the show, and seats are expected to be sold out in a week. Wes Young, publicity chairman said.

Tickets went on sale yesterday in the Controller's office. Special rates are offered San Jose State students with A.S.B. cards and high school students at 40 and 55 cents. Regular rates for the same seats are 55 cents and 75 cents. "Good News" was written by Buddy de Sylva.

Sophomore Hop Bids On Sale For Three More Days

There are only three more days to purchase bids to the fifth annual Sophomore Hop, to be held in the San Jose Woman's club, Saturday night. Bids may be purchased at the Controller's office or from members of the sophomore executive council.

This year the dance bears the subtitle of "Defense Stamp" in keeping with the theme, which will be "Tanks a Million."

Even the door prize will be in keeping with the theme. With ten cents taken from each bid, a defense savings stamp will be purchased. These stamps will be evenly divided into two books which the couple winning the drawing will receive.

Dancing will be held from 9 to 1 o'clock to the sweet swing music of Buddy King and his 12-piece orchestra. Along with the orchestra appears Joe Ferrari, who has built up a reputation for being a comic.

This affair is not only for sophomores but rather is sponsored by the sophomore class for the enjoyment of the entire San Jose State student body, hop committee heads point out.

George Head

George W. Head of Palo Alto, a former San Jose State student, has been appointed Cadet Corporal of Squadron 1, Flight C, at the Air Corps Replacement Training Center, Kelly Field, Texas.

Head is a member of the first class of aviation cadets to enter the training center at Kelly Field since the entrance of the United States into World War II.

While he was at San Jose State, 1939-41, he was a member of the San Jose ski team, the San Jose State Flying club No. 3, and Spartan Hall co-operative house.

Course Fees

The fees for this quarter were due last Friday. Those that failed at that time to get them in now have to pay a late fee of $1. This is payable at the Business office.

After Friday of this week registration of those that failed to make the payment will be dropped from their courses. If the student wishes to re-enroll, a fee of $3 per subject will be charged.

Marine Recruiter Will Be Here Again On Thursday

Lieutenant John R. Kerman, Marine Corps, will return here Thursday to continue interviewing and accepting applicants for Marine Corps officer training.

Students who wish to apply will meet in room 21 from 10 to 4.

San Jose State's quota for the officer training offer is eight seniors, six juniors and three sophomores, although alternates may be chosen. These will be given training through an agency known as the Candidates' Class for Commission. Successful completion of the course qualifies the candidate for a commission as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Lieutenant Kerman states that unless a real need arises, students now joining will not be called before their graduation.

Stanford Professor Addresses Club

Professor D. Elton Trueblood of Stanford university will address the first meeting of the recently reorganized Pre-Theology club, Thursday noon in room 1 of the Home Economics building.

Students interested are invited to come and bring their lunches.

Senior Council

Senior council members will meet today at noon, announces Wesley Young, president. Official class business will be acted upon at the meeting.

TRYOUTS THURSDAY FOR DEBATE DISCUSSION MEET WITH WASHINGTON

Service Groups Call For Men To Aid Fire-Fighting Unit

Spartan Knights and Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternities, are asking for volunteer firemen for a campus fire-fighting unit. It is necessary that 100 men sign up for this project to make it successful, says Marty Taylor, spokesman for the group. Interested Spartans may leave their names in the contributions box in the Publications office or with any member of either fraternity.

The first meeting of the group will be held in room S112 Thursday at 3:30, at which time firemen from the city fire department will talk and pictures of the fire-fighting set-up in London will be shown.

When the men are organized, instruction will be given by the city fire department.

At the present the two service fraternities are surveying the campus in an effort to acquaint themselves with the fire-fighting facilities. Adequate equipment will be furnished.

Speech Platform Scheduled For 7:30 Tomorrow Night

The public is invited to attend the quarterly Speech Platform to be held in the Little Theater tomorrow and Thursday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Speech department head Hugh W. Gillis announced yesterday.

The Speech Platform appearance is required of all junior speech majors and consists of speeches and readings of various types.

Howard Melton, a junior speech major, will preside over the function as student chairman. Melton was selected as an outstanding student in speech and extra-curricular activities for the post. Selection was made by the Platform Recital committee headed by Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, associate professor of speech.

Students who will speak on the platform are Patricia Alexander, Oliver Bauquier, Clarence Cassell, Leon Fletcher, Patricia Price, Norval Guttormsen, Lois Ijams, Mary Kirtley, Esther Lacitola, Hampton Richey and Harrison McCreath.

Tryouts to select two representatives to compete with the University of Washington Women's Discussion squad at their meets in San Jose will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 155. Miss Lucie Lawson stated yesterday.

Six students slated to try out are Eleanor Wagner, Howard Melton, Liberata Ruscigno, Harrett Mannina, Marjorie Howell, and Bette Jane Toland.

Judges for the event will be Ward Rasmus, speech instructor, and Ray Irwin, radio speech instructor.

The Washington squad, which is making its annual tour of California colleges and debating before various civic organizations, is headed by Dr. W. W. Bird, assistant professor of speech at Washington.

BLOOD BANK

Probably one of the most worthy and timely movements of the current year is rapidly gaining impetus in the form of a blood bank policy advocated by Dean Jay Elder.

The idea is not a new one but it most certainly deserves an "all out" participation from the student body. Started only a few years ago in this country, the blood bank plan has gained adherents until today it can be likened to a national custom—even the movie stars are donating.

Women's clubs, fraternal organizations, national societies, and individuals are flocking to donate their blood for emergency treatment. In the past, blood donation was professionalized to the extent that donors were paid after a transfusion. But in those days the blood was not stored for future use and in emergency cases a donor was summoned, many times arriving too late to save a patient's life.

Now, with the scientific storing of the red stuff in huge vaults, a supply is constantly on hand for immediate use. But this storage treatment is expensive and its cost prevents the paying of donors. Thus, under the guise of national defense and patriotism the call goes out for more blood donations. And it is truly a worthy cause, more so now because of the war.

The blood bank drive will soon be in full sway on our campus and every organization and student should get behind it. Donate early and avoid the rush.

HANG ON TO THAT SHIRT!

A wise bit of counsel first given to men of San Jose State college last quarter was repeated recently to students in senior orientation by the senior class advisor.

It was merely a repetition of the perhaps crude but so fitting slogan, "keep your shirt on."

The term was first used, in connection with the question of voluntary enlistment, in a Spartan Daily editorial which pointed out the advisability of a little thought before actions so drastic as leaving school and enlisting were taken.

How often we have been told, and how true it is showing itself to be, that one of the many great tragedies of war hysteria is misplacement of soldier personnel. Our college president has told us in his column how he came across this problem so many times in the last war. And that same senior class advisor warned us of this danger last quarter. And now we are getting even stronger evidence of the veracity of the problem, in the letters that the Daily receives from former students now in the service. Many of them give mute testimony of the unhappiness of the writer with his camp life; a life that could be more than just tolerable if he'd a chance to do what he liked to do. Maybe he is a crack photographer, but here he is digging trenches. Or maybe he is a mathematician, but he is shouldering his rifle along with the rest of the infantry.

If you as men students feel that you should be doing something for your country, something more than just reading books, why, go ahead; but be a bit careful what you pick out to do. Look over the excellent possibilities offered to college students. You'll find most of them require or at least desire a college degree.

This being true, wouldn't you be wise to do your best to graduate and thus give both your country and yourself a much better opportunity to make use of all your talents? Think it over, mister student. Don't be in a hurry to get out of that shirt, for it may be the only one you have left.

• FOR SERVICE CONTRIBUTIONS

Since the initiation of this column for contributions from service men, so many letters have been received from ex-Spartans now in the service that it has been impossible to publish all of them. We would like to acknowledge their contributions.

Cadet Bob Ramsey wrote a "thank you" letter in behalf of the ex-Staters stationed at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Joseph E. Bruggman, former music major, is finding opportunity to increase his knowledge of the subject he chose for his career in the music department of the Air Corps. Other Staters in the Army Air Corps who have written are Donald E. Ferguson, Corp. William A. Jacobsen, Bill Duran, P. F. Gilmore, and George W. Head.

Alfred L. Roberts, after trying several units of the Army, is now in the Medical Corp, while Richard Bourell is with the Quartermasters in Aviation Supply.

Ed Shaw is in the Finance Department, and Corporal Clyde Lowe is an Engineer. Jack Silvey, former Spartan Daily reporter, is in the Coast Guard, and George Chambers is in the Coast Artillery.

In the Army Corps Headquarters Company are Jimmie Gualtieri and Alfred Morris, while the Infantry is represented by Corporals Gus Covello and Charles B. Morton.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE
President San Jose State College

I visited an Army camp last week, and dear me, I'd like to be there myself. They were a fine looking lot of young men. They were interesting, vigorous, wholesome, rugged, tanned, jolly. I saw them when they came in from drill. In a way, they seemed to be in a hurry to get to the showers. On the porch, running water and sinks were available, and there they were, bowing places for themselves. Most of them were stripped to the waist, shaving and getting cleaned up for the week-end. They talked and laughed. They played tricks on each other. Sometimes there would be a right good scuffle.

They lived in tents, six in a tent, I believe. They had been through a good deal of wet weather, but on that day the sun was shining and everything was out in the company street to dry. The bedding was being aired, walls of the tents were up.

Each tent had a little stove that didn't look very efficient. Evidently they had to get the coal and wood for it. I saw two of them trying to split up some tree roots. They had an axe and a heavy sledge hammer. Neither one was a woodsman—no wood, no fire. The big fellow wielded the sledge. He held it squarely in front of him, swung it back between his legs, then up over his head, and brought it down whack. His aim was not always good and a great splash of dust several times rewarded his effort. It was funny to see the little fellow trying to shove the axe under the blow.

Many of the men were playing baseball. Some were skilled. Every one tried. One group seemed to be playing rugby. They would all bunch together, heads down, and then there would be a great spill.

They seemed to run in all directions at once.

And those jeeps—they loved the jeeps. I saw one place where a road had been cut through a hill. The sides were soft—no place to see what the jeeps were doing. It was about a forty-five degree slope. I didn't see them at it—perhaps they couldn't try it in broad daylight—but the sides of that cut had been just churned by auto wheels. Must have been jeeps. One car had gotten almost to the top, looked as if it had come down over end.

It was the day for full inspection. Everywhere the men were lined up with packs spread out on the ground before them—toothbrushes, extra shoe laces, Springfield everything.

Everywhere I saw fixed bayonets. After two hours on a post, weight like that on the end of a rifle gets pretty heavy. The rifles didn't seem to mind it. They made the turn at the end of beat with precision and snap. They saluted smartly. They looked like soldiers.

I came away from that camp encouraged. I wish all of our young men could have the benefit of vigorous outdoor training. They have never been able to work it out, however—short of war. Perhaps we shall do better next time.

Notice to Psychology 140 class: Be sure to go to room 114 today to read your assignment for tomorrow.—Harrison F. Heath.

Sophomore Council will please meet at 1 p.m. in the Student Union.—Keith Robison.

Will all members of Kappa Delta Pi who are interested in attending the Convocation Banquet in San Francisco, Tuesday, February 23, please be present for a brief meeting in room 155, at 5 p.m. today.

Will the Publicity committee of the Junior Prom meet in the Publications office today at 12 noon for a brief period.—Ken Stephens.

Alpha Pi Omega Sponsors Team In Track Tourney

All of the four teams entered in the interclass track meet March 6 have sponsors with the announcement by Alpha Pi Omega, on-campus social fraternity, that it would sponsor the fourth squad.

RESUME RIVALRY

Organizations supporting teams are Spartan Hall, co-winners of the novice boxing tourney rooting award; their rivals from across the street, Eckert Hall; Delta Theta Omega, and Alpha Pi Omega which tied with Spartan Hall for the rooting section trophy at the novice fights.

Track Coach Bud Winter took charge of forming the four teams and divided them so that the final outcome of the meet should rest upon the relay.

STRENGTH DIVIDED

For instance, Spartan Hall's team is strong in the sprint events and is favored to walk off with these events as they have Bill Smith, a 9.7 man; Bud Vergee, sprinter and hurdler, and "T-Bone" Akusuki, who holds just about every lightweight track record in San Jose high school circles, but lacks pole vaulters and weight men. To compensate, Winter gave Eckert Hall a strong pole vaulting trio in Verne Cooley, national junior college champ at 13 ft. 7 in.; Paul Borg and Elwood Clark. Alpha Pi Omega drew strength in the weights with Frank Minini, national junior college champion in the shot and discus, heading their team.

Frosh Swimmers Lose To Indians

Registering only two second places, San Jose State's freshman swimming team succumbed to a strong Stanford squad last Friday afternoon in the Farm pool by a 62-13 score.

Results:

300 yard medley—Won by Stanford (Weeden, Saltonstall, Goodin); 3:14.4.
220 yard freestyle—Narver (S), Rainalter (S), Kiefer (SJ); 2:22.4.
50 yard freestyle—Maple (S), Davis (SJ), Jackson (SJ); 26.8.
Diving—Schreiber (S), Dombalian (SJ), Hadley (SJ).
100 yard freestyle—Narver (S), Rainalter (S), Davis (SJ); 56.4.
150 yard backstroke—Weeden (S), Maple (S), Hazeltine (SJ); 1:41.5.
200 yard breaststroke—Saltonstall (S), Nable (S), Shirdon (SJ); 2:44.8.
440 yard freestyle—Hatch (S), Bell (S), Kiefer (SJ); 5:53.8.
400 yard relay—Won by Stanford; 4:04.2.

VARSITY MERMEN PREP FOR OREGON MEET THURSDAY

Boasting one of the strongest teams in the history of the school, Oregon university will invade the local pool Thursday evening to battle San Jose State's varsity swimming team.

The last time the two teams met was in 1939 when they took six of the nine first places, drubbing the Spartans 54-21 in the local pool.

DISTANCE STRONG

Walter Sindel will encounter plenty of trouble in the distance events with Robinson carrying the burden for the Webfeet. Robinson has times of 2:23 in the 220 yard freestyle and 5:15 in the 440.

Another who is expected to give trouble is Robert Huestis who has a mark of 2:40 in the 200 yard breaststroke.

BACKSTROKE CLOSE

Marty Taylor will encounter trouble in the backstroke against Wietzel, who has posted the fast time of 1:47.5.

Both relay teams are plenty fast with the 440 team recently setting a new conference record in the fast time of 3:42.

The Webfeet have already chalked up two decisive wins over conference foes this week, downing Washington 58-17 and Oregon State 56-19.

Hams, Scribes Vie On Casaba Court

In a desperate effort to somehow find victory over the seemingly unconquerable journalism athletes, the Speech majors late last week challenged members of the Publications staff to a basketball game.

Utterly crushed in a football game held last quarter, and completely outclassed in a series of softball contests last spring quarter, the dramatists have now turned to the indoor sport in the hope of beating the pencil-pushers at something, anything.

University Of San Francisco Game This Evening And St. Mary's Tilt Tomorrow Are Last Home Contests For Spartans

By SEBASTIAN SQUATRITO

Playing their last home games of the season, the Spartan hoopsters tangle with the Dons of USF tonight, and the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's tomorrow night in the local gym at 8:15.

The freshmen play Hollister Junior college in tonight's 6:30 preliminary and the St. Mary's Gaels tomorrow night.

The teams will meet for the second time this season, San Jose having already dropped a 57 to 37 game to the Dons and another to the Gaels by a 45 to 34 score. Both games were played in the San Francisco Civic auditorium.

Freshman Cagers Battle Hollister In Prelim Tonight

Freshman basketball will come to an end this week with the games with Hollister high school tonight and the St. Mary's college freshman tomorrow night. These games are preliminary contests and will start at 6:30 in Spartan pavilion.

There is a slight possibility that the frosh will play one game next week—an afternoon contest against the Santa Clara high school varsity.

At present the Hollister high Haybalers are leading their league and hold victories over Carmel high and Gilroy high school.

GHOINE TOPS

Their outstanding scorer is Frank Ghoina, a fast forward, who has pulled the squad out of several tight places this season by going on a scoring rampage.

Coach Carroll will send his freshmen into the contest on the long end of the betting. The frosh hold a lopsided win over the Hollister junior college team which is rated on about a par with the Hollister high squad.

SCORING TRIO

The frosh depend upon Porter McConnell, tall pivot man; Paul Corbusiero, flashy little forward, and Grey Sargent to score most of the points. Mel Caughell and "T-Bone" Akusuki are also expected to break into the scoring column.

The defensive duties are in the hands of Bill Rodriguez and Colin Hill with Jack Mulgrew also coming in for his share of work.

Making their last appearance in Spartan Pavilion will be seniors Stu Carter and Charlie Sturz. Stu, although a clever ball handler, has never been a scoring threat, but of late he has begun to hit that basket and last week scored 18 points against Fresno.

Charlie Sturz, a reserve guard, is to see a great deal of action and might even start. MacPherson will only have three experienced guards to use. Last week he lost Roy Diedericksen, who will be out another two weeks with a sprained ankle.

According to their past performances of hot one night and cold the next, the Spartans' main scoring threats, forward Don "Dutch" Boysen and guard Bill Helbush, should get hotter than Hades' hottest furnace.

Boysen only scored 12 points in the Fresno series, and even though Helbush scored 15, 13 of these were chalked up on Friday night.

However, all is not dark for MacPherson. Many players such as Elwood Clark, Marvin Zemanek and Bill Gamboya have shown a great deal of improvement since the beginning of the season and are slated to see a lot of action in the remaining games.

NEWS BRIEFS

Radio Speakers

KSJS, radio speaking society, will hold a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in room 157, club president John Shepperd announced yesterday.

Five newly initiated members will be introduced to the informal meetings of the club.

The meeting launches a new policy of making meetings more interesting by a planned program by an entertainment committee. The committee consists of Alden Schroeder and Cherry Phillips.

Appointments

All seniors seeking placement through the Appointment office after graduation are asked to see Miss Robinson in the Appointment office as soon as possible.

Mr. Haworth will be holding these interviews with the graduating seniors beginning Monday, March 2. These seniors will be interviewed for the various positions they will be looking for. It is imperative that all seniors sign up as soon as possible for these interviews.

Faculty Bowlers

The Commerce Faculty Bowling team, after a shaky start headlined by Weaver Meadows throwing his first two balls into the gutter, managed to eke out a two-to-one victory over the strong Alpha Eta Sigma team.

For the faculty, Carlton A. Pederson led with a high game of 212. For the student organization James Sarris led with a handicap score of 189.

The final aggregate scores showed the commerce faculty winning by a score of less than 3 pins per man.

Important: Spartan Knight meeting will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Student Union. All members are requested to attend.

— Duke Taylor.

Teacher Party

The Association for Early Childhood Education, formerly the Kindergarten-Primary club, is giving a patriotic party tonight at 7:30.

Teachers from the various schools in San Jose have been invited, and also all prospective teachers at State, to meet those whom they will probably be working under.

The party will be held at the Student Center on Third and San Fernando streets. Price of admission is 10 cents.

D.S.G. OFFERS JUNIOR PROM BID TO BALLOON HOLDER AT DANCE

A bid to the Junior Prom will go to the person who holds the lucky balloon at Delta Sigma Gamma's annual winter semi-formal at the San Jose Country Club March 7th.

Promptly at midnight, balloons used as decorations will be released from the ballroom ceiling and inside one of them will be the bid, according to Chuck Brown, dance chairman.

These balloons will be the only form of decoration for the dance aside from a large spotlighted fraternity shield at the entrance to the ballroom, Brown states.

SPECIAL FEATURES

"Dancing in the Sky" is the theme for the affair. Clyde Appleby and his 12-piece orchestra will play, while Lois Anderson and the Ero swing trio will be featured performers with the band. Many specialty numbers will be presented. Members of the trio are Betty Stuhlman, Jane Reed and Barbara Trelease.

A complete floor show will be the surprise attraction in entertainment. This will be the first time such a presentation has been offered at a school dance. Also in the line of novel entertainment will be the introduction of two new fraternity songs by a collegiate chorus of DSG members.

BIDS ON SALE

Bids for the dance are $1.50 and may be obtained from any fraternity member or pledge.

In charge of the dance are Chairman Brown, Harry Harter and George Morris. Entertainment is under the supervision of Harter also. Delta Sigma Gamma president Ken Wilkins and Ken Alford are in charge of posters to advertise the dance.

BERKELEY INTERNATIONAL HOUSE TO SEND SPEAKERS TO DISCUSSION

Three "interesting people" from the International House in Berkeley will be brought here this weekend to speak at round-table discussions planned by the college Cosmopolitan club, it was announced yesterday.

Informal forums, a visit to the Rosierucion temple, a tea at the Student Center, and a dinner are among the entertainments planned for the visitors.

The three are Charan Singh, Hindu poet and journalist; Ulrich Strauss, Swiss traveler, and Grace Benjamin, California graduate and world-wide traveler.

INDIAN CONGRESS

Singh is best known as president of the "Post-War Plan Group" of the International House. He received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from the University of the Punjab in India, and is at present studying at the University of California for a Ph.D. in English. He was connected with the Indian Congress before coming to this country, and his particular interests lie in the betterment of Indian political and social life.

Strauss has traveled widely through Europe, and was in Paris just previous to the French collapse in the present war. He came to San Francisco last year, and is now a candidate for a Ph.D. in English at the University of California. He also is active in the group of which Singh is president.

WIDELY TRAVELED

Miss Benjamin has traveled in Enrope, China, Asia, Japan and in the United States. She was born in Hamadon, Persia, but received her education in San Francisco and Madera schools in California. She is now a pre-legal major at the University of California.

Archers Sponsor Tournament For "William Tells"

Opportunity is offered to all men and women students who are to handle a bow and arrow in this week and next and in the tournament being sponsored by the Archery club.

The meets will be held at 8 o'clock in the San Carlos track side the Women's gym. In case rain there will be no meet that day or the day following.

According to Rosalie Sanfey, president of the Archery club, is an opportunity for fun and chance for some out-of-door activity in these first spring days.

Archery is not given this quarter for women and it is now part of men's physical education curriculum. This is, therefore, opportunity for both men and women to get in some shakedown game that they may not have a chance to participate in during time.

Men will shoot the American Round and, women the California Scores will be kept and pants may come out as many few days as they wish.
